

PETTY

Petty is a husband and wife duo based in Eastern North Carolina. Caleb and Madison Petty met in high school and then went on to study music and music business at Belmont University in Nashville, Tennessee. After living in Nashville for years during a pandemic and an incredibly politically polarized time, they became more appreciative of the simple things in life. Upon graduation, they came to realize that city life wasn't for them, so they decided to move home to live the simple life, while still pursuing music independently. Their music now reflects that, with an all-around pro-America message.
